

Economic Development

~~The Columbia River Gorge is home to nearly 55,000 people. The Columbia River Gorge National Scenic Area spans 85 miles of the Columbia River and includes 292,500 acres of diverse landscapes and 13 urban communities. Congress intended the National Scenic Area Act to support the economy of the communities in the National Scenic Area. The second of the Act's two stated purposes~~ One of the Act's two stated purposes is "to protect and support the economy of the Gorge by encouraging growth to occur in existing urban areas and by allowing future economic development in a manner that is consistent with protection of scenic, cultural, recreation, and natural resources [Section 3(2)]."

The term "economic vitality" as used in this chapter, refers to a strong and diverse economy that contributes to increased prosperity, job opportunities, and an enhanced quality of life. As stated in the National Scenic Area Oregon and Washington Economic Vitality Plan (2016): "The purpose of the National Scenic Area Oregon and Washington Economic Vitality Plan is to set forth a vision and strategies for enhancing the economy and quality of life of Oregon and Washington communities located within the National Scenic Area". The economic vitality of the National Scenic Area and the health of the scenic, natural, recreational, and cultural resources of the Columbia River Gorge are interdependent. The goals and policies in this chapter support the vision of a thriving economy supporting diverse business opportunities that operate in harmony with the National Scenic Area's rural qualities, values, and resources, especially with ~~the Gorge's principal~~ economic sectors, such as agriculture, forestry, and tourism. ~~while allowing new commercial uses on lands designated Rural Center, Commercial, and Commercial Recreation.~~ Climate change directly and indirectly affects many of the region's current economic sectors. Addressing climate change will improve the viability of those economies into the future. In addition, the necessity of adapting to changing conditions and the interest in mitigating effects create new opportunities for a natural resource-based economy.

This chapter focuses on the General Management Area as the primary location for commercial development. The Special Management Areas (SMA) include the region's most sensitive lands and resources. In the Act, Congress explicitly limited new development in the SMA, and directed that commercial development take place outside of the SMA.
